Requirement for Indian Health Pathway Students

*Seattle Students will meet in person – Room –TBA
Seattle Students SLN: #21863*

*WWAMI/Spokane Students will Zoom --synchronous attendance required
WWAMI Students SLN: #21864
*Spokane Students SLN: #21865*

Students will have an opportunity to learn about the most pressing health issues facing American Indian and Alaska Natives and explore cultural strength based strategies to remedy problems in public health and health care delivery systems for these communities.

While this course targets medical students, the presence of graduate and professional students in the health and allied disciplines enriches the learning environment. It appeals to those with interests in public and global health, and health in underserved populations. This course is a requirement of the Indian Health Pathway.
